

TWO CARDINALS TO ARRIVE HERE TO-DAY

Catholic Week's Big Events Will Begin With High Mass To-morrow.

PRESS MEN ENTERTAIN

Editors to Appeal to Trade Commission on Cost of Print Paper.

The second day of Catholic week was marked yesterday by the opening session of the Press Association in the New York Catholic Club, 120 Central Park South. With the arrival to-day of the Apostolic Delegate, the Most Rev. John Baptista, and Cardinals Gibbons of Baltimore and O'Connell of Boston, together with thousands of members of Catholic organizations out of town, the celebration will reach a climax.

To-morrow, however, will be the most important day of all, for the pontifical high mass will be held in the morning in St. Patrick's Cathedral and a mass meeting in the evening in Madison Square Garden.

At the first session of the Press Association, it was pointed out yesterday morning by President John Paul Chev. of St. Louis that half of the Catholic publications in the country still remain outside the organization. Chev. urged that attempts be made to bring the foreign language papers into the fold.

Bishop J. J. Hartley of Columbus, Ohio, delivered the opening prayer in the convention. Many of those in the audience were women editors.

The cost of white paper entered into the business of the day, and the committee on resolutions, headed by the Rev. John J. Burke, editor of the Catholic World, was instructed to draw up a report to the Federal Trade Commission on the subject. Another topic concerned the organization of the association. The executive committee has in readiness a constitution and by-laws, and the association would be modeled along the lines of the United Press and the Associated Press as far as franchise and service are concerned.

Delegates were read by the Rev. John L. Whelan of Brooklyn, editor of the Telegraph, and Arthur Benington of the Sunday World. P. A. Wilson Lawrence of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World addressed the delegates.

Lunch and dinner were served to the delegates at the Catholic Press Association, in which a paper will be read by Stuart P. West, editor of the Catholic Converter. The committee on resolutions of the Catholic Central Verein will meet in the Park Avenue Hotel in the morning, and the executive board in the afternoon.

Delegates will be at the Deloitte House in East Eighty-eighth street.

DR. POTTER FAILS DEAD IN OFFICE

Found on Floor in Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank Building.

IN WIRE TAPPING PROBE

Prominent for Years in Charities Work—Accused by Mayor at Inquiry.

Dr. Daniel C. Potter, a principal in the wiretapping controversy of the charities investigation and at one time Baptist clergyman favored by John D. Rockefeller, died of heart disease yesterday afternoon in his office in the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank Building at 51 Chambers street.

Dr. Potter was found on the floor at 2:30 o'clock by Harry C. Ford, an employee in the contracting office of Walter Drummond in the same building. He had been alone and had fainted at his desk and fallen from his chair. He was dead when Dr. Deane arrived from the Hudson Street Hospital.

Dr. Potter was secretary of the Association of Private Charities, in whose room he died. After examining the body and leaving the room Dr. T. Weston, Coroner's physician, was alerted. He said he had known Dr. Potter well and that for some time the charities secretary had suffered from heart and kidney trouble. A few days ago, said Dr. Weston, Dr. Potter complained of not feeling well, but after a long sleep on Sunday he went to his work as usual yesterday.

"All his friends knew," Dr. Weston added, "the strain he had been under because of the charities investigation. He should not have been in the place of those who are responsible."

A reporter suggested to Dr. Weston that as Dr. Potter had heart trouble and kidney trouble and was 64 years of age, the physician might not like to be put in the position of blaming the charities trouble for Dr. Potter's death.

"You have your opinion and I have mine," Dr. Weston retorted. Dr. Weston coupled the names of Potter and Thomas M. Mulry, having in mind the recent death of Mulry, who was president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank and a leading supporter of Roman Catholic charities. Mr. Mulry died on March 16 while the Strong investigation of the State of New York, with its disclosures of conditions in various children's homes was in progress. His friends said at the time that his death was hastened by overwork.

When Mayor Mitchell took office there was a group of men among the charities who were known as the "Potter-Mulry group." They were men who were known as the "Potter-Mulry group." They were men who were known as the "Potter-Mulry group."

Dr. Potter, along with the Rev. William B. Farrell of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, was one of the men who were known as the "Potter-Mulry group." They were men who were known as the "Potter-Mulry group."
